Recommendations

You must have three letters of recommendation submitted on your behalf. Letters of recommendation are an extremely important aspect of your application; an application will be considered incomplete without at least two letters of recommendation. Your recommenders must complete the forms online and submit electronically.

Once you register your recommenders, they will receive an automatic email with instructions on completing the online recommendation form. You can track the status of recommendations, send reminders, and add/delete recommenders through this system before and after submission of your application. Late referee reports cannot be accepted.

Tips on recommendations:

- Please provide your recommenders with a copy of your project statement.
- Recommendations should be from people qualified to evaluate your professional work; the abilities you bring to the proposed project; your ability to adapt to another country and culture; and the merits of the project itself.
- Recommendations can come from your home institution, but at least one of them should be from a colleague in your field outside your home institution.
- If you have recently moved to a new home institution, one should be from your previous institution.
- Choose your recommenders carefully and contact them early. The letters of recommendation need to accompany the application as it could otherwise be weakened, as one letter of recommendation will not be accepted.
- Do not ask someone for a letter of recommendation unless the person is well acquainted with your qualifications. A pro forma letter from a well-known scholar, a contact abroad or a prominent government official will carry less weight than a realistic assessment of your abilities from someone who knows you and your work well.
- Recommendations must be written in or translated into English.
- It is your responsibility to ensure that recommendation reports are submitted by the deadline.
